

CompuWrite Summer 2009

CompuWrite is a computer writing camp for rising 4th through rising 7th grade students. The primary focus of the camp is to work with students having difficulty in the writing process. The teacher/student ratio is typically 1:3. CompuWrite blends technology and writing! Students work on the five stages of writing by combining writing strategies and technology tools.

- Brainstorming
- Drafting
- Revising
- Editing
- Production

Teachers of CompuWrite "make writing fun" by enhancing the writing process using technology. We take information from parents and schools prior to camp and make decisions with parents about particular individual focus areas. We then apply the principles of writing using available technology to facilitate the writing process. The available technology includes scanners, cameras, latest software, voice output software, and the Internet.

When: July 7, 2009 - July 31, 2009

Where: George Mason University - Commerce I Building
4087 University Drive
Fairfax, VA 22030

Cost: $695 (which includes a $50 non-refundable deposit due with application)

Note: Scholarships available based on financial need
Returning participants will receive a $50 discount
(Contact Camp Director for more information)

Time: Session 1 (9:30 am - 12:00 pm)

Session 2 (1:00 pm - 3:30 pm)

Application Deadline: May 31, 2009

For more information or an application, please visit our website at:

<http://kihd.gmu.edu/compuwrite/>

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact:

Helen A. Kellar Institute for Human disAbilities

Emily McKeough, Camp Director

(703) 993-3670

or E-mail: compcamp@gmu.edu